“ So sorry to see that Ellie has passed from this earth. I taught next to Ellie at Wilson School (3rd grade) for many years until her retirement. I was always amazed at her energy and focus, not only in the classroom but in her life outside. Her ability to be the commander in her classroom all day then spend countless hours at night rehearsing for the next play at night, was a gift that I always admired.

Ellie was always prepared for delivering her lessons each day. I remember her sharing her lesson plan book one day with me as I needed to help the substitute the next day. Her book was so neat, things were highlighted and color coded with each hour filled with detailed instructions for that day. At Wilson School, each classroom had many, many bulletin boards that had to be covered. Well, Ellies' boards were always a work of art and the envy of any teacher. She was a dedicated and gifted teacher who gave unselfishly of herself to help so many students.

Please know, that I offer my condolences to you and your family as you celebrate the fullness of a life well lived.

“ I met Ellie about 10 years ago on a break.. My husband knew Bud and Ellie well, but I was a little nervous about meeting her.

Yet when we were introduced, she had a warm acceptance that made you feel as though she had been a friend for years.

Though we grieve, we know she has gone to the Father, and we will see that smile and warmth once again.

“ My wife and I met Ellie in St. Thomas where her so, Derrick and his musical group were headlining. Ellie made an impromptu appearance and, afterwards, we invited her to join our group. That chance meeting led to a beautiful relationship which created memories which will last the rest of my and my wife, Kaye the rest of our lives. Rest in peace, my friend.

“ I knew Ellie from community theater and P.E.O. She would walk into a room and instantly people were drawn to her. Her stage presence was just as delightful! Whether singing and dancing onstage or discussing scholarships at a sisterhood meeting; Ellie was consistently warm, fun, and wonderful.

“ Ellie was the epitome of class. I will fondly remember her from the many theatrical shows that we performed in together. She was such a talented and loving woman. I am so glad that our paths crossed and I got to know Ellie. She was truly one of a kind and will be sorely missed.

“ I have wonderful memories of visiting our Forsberg cousins in Delaware for Thanksgiving holidays and actually had the opportunity to see both Aunt Ellie and Uncle Bud in plays.
Remembering her beautiful singing voice.
