“ I met William in the beginning of my career and I wasn't sure how it was going to go for me at first, but having someone around with a charismatic ball of energy with nothing but smiles and laughs made things so much easier. In his toughest times he still could make everyone in the room laugh. I spoke to him not to long ago and now wish we would have talked a bit more. I don't know if he truly knew his effect on people, he was a great kid who turned into a great young man. I'm truly deeply sorry for his family and close friends as he will definitely be missed and not forgotten.
