“ Oh no!! this is sad news indeed. I attended KU with George and relocated to the US right around the same time he did, but he ended up in CA and I in NY. I last saw him in NJ back in 2006 before I relocated. A dear friend, full of life, fun loving and just a wonderful person. Fare thee well GMak :-)

“ George was my nephew and because we were age mates, we related more like friends. We were very close, something that was passed on by our Parents. We used to visit him and his family in Embu when we were growing up and he also visited us in Nairobi. We lost touch after his mum passed away but we were reunited many years later when he visited me in New Jersey and we picked up like time had not passed.

George was very generous and and when I visited the US after I had relocated home he took me on a vacation to Las Vegas and California.

We had planned to go to London for my 50th birthday this year but it was not meant to be. He was diagnosed with cancer.

I will miss you terribly George but I know you are at peace. We shall meet on the other side.
