

Isabella G.W. McGowan

March 8, 1915 - April 8, 2015

Isabella "Ella" McGowan passed away Wednesday morning, April 8, 2015, at the age of 100.

Born on March 8, 1915 in Aberdeen, Scotland, Ella immigrated with her family to the U.S. when she was fourteen years old. In 1945, she married the late Andrew McGowan, who was in the Royal Navy. Her husband joined her in the U.S. after the war. They were married fifty-six years and lived in Boston, MA, Florida, and New Castle, DE.

Ella always spoke with a faint Scottish brogue and she loved to hear the bagpipes play. In fact, she loved anything Scottish and she liked to hear news about Scotland. When her husband was still alive he and Ella belonged to a Scottish club in Florida and they would regularly go Scottish dancing.

Ella is survived by her three daughters: Eveline Armstrong, Lesley Friedman, Cheryl Wallace, and their husbands; her seven grandchildren and their spouses; and her seven great-grandchildren.
