“ *Jack,
I will always remember sitting in your backyard listening to stories with Bobby, Josh, Matt, etc. I will always remember you with a smile, even when you used to yell at us for hanging out at Boo's house all day. It makes me happy to know you will be keeping Clare company in heaven. xoxo*

“ Jack! Where to start..... You were always willing to help anybody, in any situation. You were always there for me whenever I needed someone to talk to, or needed help in starting my side lawn service, which pretty much became because of you. I'm gonna miss cutting grass with you and working on mulching beds or anything in the landscape field. It's so hard for me to have to lose you as a friend, even more as close as we became over the 10 years of knowing each other. I'm gonna miss going bowling with you, and seeing you flirt with all the chicks at the alley! LOL, There's not any amount of words that can describe how much I grew up to loving you as a second father figure, I still can't comprehend and make my mind know you're no longer here with us. Jack, we are ALL gonna miss you very much. I'm gonna miss the times in summer when we'd chill, go out cruising, and sitting in your back yard, watching your pond, and your fish, even "Bubba", your Koi fish. You always had all the knowledge on everything there is. Jack, I love you LOTS, am glad you're in a better place, and no longer suffering. R.I.P Jack, till we reunite again!

Hello Jack, While we sat out back together in the middle of your garden you always had a story to tell and never failed to make me laugh. We had some fun times together bowling, watching fireworks and movies, or just listening to music and joking around. I am going to miss you.

Jack, you were (still are) my cousin. I'm not sure what we are all gonna do without you around keeping us all in line, but I do know that you will be missed by all whom knew you. I'm trying to hold Nelle and Chris down and they seem to be taking it like you told them to (no losing it). I am gonna miss you cousin...you always made/make my heart smile....Rest EZ ....gone but never forgotten.

“ My favorite memories of Jack was getting out of Wilmington to enjoy Peace and Quiet. His company was well enjoyed for the 12 years that I knew him and the family. The BBQ*S 4th of July Fire Works and watching his Fish get bigger in his pond. Watching him Bowl When he went . I usually had someone there with me when I went to see him. i am so glad what knowlege he had he shared with everyone he knew. He was so knowlegable on Plant Life. SO SORRY to see a GREAT MAN so young to get so ill so fast and take a new journey to the other side . He will be greatly missed by all. N. G.

Another Person Who knew him said," Her being from New York Her foundest Memory of JACK was when he had lit a fire in his back yard from a tree he had topped off it was sorta chilli that night and I and never encountered that before." so sorry to see him go ! DEE
