“ I am sending my condolences and I'm sure you miss Kyle very much. My heart goes out to you at this time and in the days ahead. May special memories bring you comfort. Jesus has the deep desire and the ability to remove the pain of bereaved ones. Please consider the words of comfort and hope found at John 11:39-44. Thinking of the family.

“ *Dear Family,
I am so sorry to hear of the loss of your dear loved one and send you my sincere condolences. The passing of a loved one can leave us feeling lost and heartbroken. But I've found very comforting words in God's word, the Bible. At Psalms 55:22, God promises to sustain those who throw their burden upon Him. God will also do away with death all together as brought out at Revelation 21:4. The bible also holds out the hope of a resurrection of those who have fallen asleep in death at Acts 24:15. May Jehovah, the God of all comfort who comforts us in all our trials (2 Corinthians 1:3,4), comfort you in your time of need. Heartfelt prayers are with your family.*

“ Dear Mary and Ken,
We would like to send our sincere condolences. It is so sad to lose a loved one in death. Many don't know the right words to say but Gods Word, the bible has TRUE comfort. Soon God's perfect government will rule over mankind, (Matthew 6:10) Under that kingdom rule that we all pray for, God promises that "no resident will say I am sick", (Isaiah 33:24) no death, no suffering, nor tears. (Revelation 21: 3,4) We will be able to live forever here on earth "in the abundance of peace." (Psalms 37:11, 29) To learn more.... including why God would allow this to happen, visit www.jw.org, click on publication, then books and brochures, and search for the brochure When Someone You Love Dies. We send you our Christian love. Darren and Shellye Andrus

“ Kenny and family, It has been a very long time...I cannot say that I understand nor that I can empathize as all of us humans are so different. What I can say is that I have learned that through death there is always life. Your beautiful son passed on my daughters birthday. Through suffering there is joy. Through pain there is hope. Through loss there is a sense of acceptance. I do understand this, as you are aware of my loss. My prayers to you and your entire family. Be brave for them. Sincerely, Heather Proud

“ My heartfelt condolences to the Orth and Targonski families at this time of overwhelming sorrow. The loss of a child and sibling at such a young age creates a void that can never be filled. But the memories you have of your son, brother and grandson will help you endure the hurt within your heart. My prayers for heaven's newest angel, taken much too soon, and for all those who lovingly remember him.

“ Kyle is my cousin and friend. We both come from Delaware and have grown up together my whole entire life from diapers to college Kyle and I have been together through it all I never have met more of an amazing, kind, generous, caring, loving, and selfless person. Kyle has been there for me through many different times in my life good or bad. He's cried with me when I needed a good cry, laughed until I peed myself because I needed a good laugh, hugged me when I have needed comfort, he listened when I just needed to vent or talk to someone, kept secrets only he will ever know just because I could not bare a burden on my own or had to tell someone for a second point of view, and lastly he has taught me you only get one life so live it lovingly, carefree, and live it to your fullest potential because you never know when it will end. Even though I can physically no longer can have Kyle by my side in my heart I know he's there this past week has been a first of many I will be on my own without Kyle during the times I may need him the most especially when there is a tragedy in my family but I know I'm not alone because spiritually he is with me everywhere and I absolutely love him for that because he is one person that has and never will abandon me when I need him I love you Kyle continue to live on with me in my heart and continue to watch over our family and be all of our guardian angel you will forever be in my heart and forever hold a special place in my heart and thank you for opening my eyes when I was blind and couldn't see you will always and forever be a angel and you will live on forever in my memories

your cousin and your friend

“ Kyle,
You brought so much joy and happiness into our family ever since the day you were born. As you grew through childhood into manhood your warmth and affection was a great source of joy to us all and a source of pride in your parents. Your spirit of kindness and love lives on within us all.

May you share the peace you now feel with those of us who miss you.

I remember the camping trip to Knoebles-- you set up the tent for us, quietly & efficiently while we were scratching our heads sorting out poles. So pleasant always. Never mean. Tolerant, I never heard you criticize anyone. You seemed to take people as they were. I will try to be like you in this way. Miss you at eggdye time, even though you bowed out at the last few, and winter camp. Love you, Kyle. Glad you got to be in our family. XO Aunt Va
