“ I grew up with the Reddingtons. Joe and i were very close as kids and still are today. His parents were my 2nd parents. Pitt was right, Mr. Reddington always had a smile for you. Crazy about his kids. i have such great childhood memories of him. Especially when he would ground Joe for whatever reason and Joe would sneak out after school to play street football. He always had one eye on the game and one on the corner looking for his dad to come around after work. As soon as he saw that station wagon making that turn he was hauling ass for the back door. I will never forget those days. Mr. Reddington you will be dearly missed by so many, especially me. R.I.P. Rick Donovan and family

“ Living across the street from the Reddington's, I remember when Paul would come home. All of the kids would stop what they were doing to greet him with a kiss. He loved his Irish heritage. I remember him singing Irish songs around the house. Paul really loved his wife, children, grandchildren and his church. He will be greatly missed by all. My sincere condolence, Pitt (Barb Wessel)

“ He was bigger than life. He always had a smile and a story. He did not have an easy life. He lived it up to the second of his death fiercely independent. He had faith that carried him through the tragedies of life and was unwavering. He did not bend. He was strong in his convictions and loved us all deeply. I miss him more than words can convey. Love you Daddy rest in peace
