“ Aldo DiNatale lit a candle in memory of William B. Lattomus

“ I worked with Bill, at Super-Fresh, in Chestertown, MD. the store he retired from. One of my hobbies is photography, he was always there with many encouraging words, and was ready to teach a bit of his knowledge. His sense of humor always brought a chuckle, one of his favorite lines.....What, are you mad at me?
The last time I saw Bill, was at his retirement party, just a few weeks ago. Will always remember him, with that big straw hat, on his head, and an even bigger smile on his face.

“ Bill was a professional photographer and with his partner, Frank Shahan, captured many weddings and events in the Wilmington - Baltimore - Philadelphia Areas during the span of the last 30 years. A classical photographer, known for his gorgeous full length images, Lattomus' camera room was state of the art, with the finest equipment, props and backgrounds. In 1985, together with 7 other local businesspersons, Bill helped form the present Delaware Professional Photographers Association. Bill himself became the president in 1989 and again in 2007 and 2008. He was still on DPP's Executive Board serving as the Board Chairman, this being his last year. Bill prided himself on winning many print competitions versus other local photographers while being a member of the DPP. In the days when film was the only media used, Mr. Lattomus entered many of the finest images that could be found and won! I will miss Bill's smile and reassuring "we'll be alright" tonight. Bill was a gentle guy and hardly ever seemed upset. When my wife and I visited him in Wilm General Hospital he said "he would be getting out real soon."

“ Bill was one of the nicest and friendliest customers I had while I was a bartender at the DuPont Country Club in the early eighties. From his pic he hasn't changed much. Will never forget his smile. God Bless You All

“ Bill is my first cousin, his father and my mother are sister and brother. They were very close. We would go to their house on Saturdays and the adults would play canasta and he and I would roam around outside. We would bike ride all over, I was a tom boy so I could keep up with him. As we became teenagers, he came to my house when the old people played cards and would hang out with my friends and I. He even mentioned these friends when he was visiting on the 4th. We had a wonderful visit with Bill. Our paths were widened as years went by and now its time to say goodbye. I love you Bill and will miss you forever..

“ Growing up, I remember looking forward to September to play softball at the family reunion. Even though I was young and a terrible player, Cousin Bill would let me play on his team. I have always remembered that. Until recently, I didn't see Cousin Bill for many years. I am so happy he made it my mother's party. Truly wonderful seeing him.
